A Fatent Sermon-"The Hen Scratches Where She Expects to Find a Bug."

Fellow sisters, brethren, men, women, and children; generally and particularly speaking. You needn't hustle any pages for the text, for it ain't there. It is a special dispensation to your appointed pastor; and he hurls it at you for what it is worth. Where the hen scratches. your appointed pastor; and he huris it at you for what it is worth. Where the hen scratches, there she expects to find a bug. Did you come from the race-track of the world to par ade your "trotting harness" before the reck and lowly? Have you dropped the dazzling rattles of business and pleasure to while an idle hour away listening to the mournful melody that is rung by angel hands from the sacred harps that hang forgotten upon the drooping willows of mortality? Or are you to tusse with the nuch-neary for the almighty dollar? Verily I say unto you, where the hen scratches there she expects to find a bug.

My drowsy hearers, we are all of us a lot of damaged goods, trying to palm ourselves off upon each other for more than our market value; and the old firm of Time, Death & Co., is doing a heavy commission business upon our stock in trade. I hear the mallet of death, with its mechanical tap, tap, and of death, with its mechanical tap, tap, and stolid monotone of "going," "going," and the next minute down it will come upon some of our unconscious heads, and we shall be folded up like the tents of the Arabs, and se folded up like the tents of the Arabs, and as silently borne away to the other side of Jordan, where the dry-goods man refrains from troubling, and the grocer has nothing to say, and the weary hen ceases from scratching, and the precious bug is found. In the midst of life we are in debt, says a netable prophet, who was near akin to our beloved pastor. If any of you are tempted to tarry in the tavern of life, and fail to settle your account with the landlord, may the text rise up before you like a fabulous Arabian hero, only to rest from the rough and tumble giant, and deter you from that and tumble giant, and deter you from that sink of utter depravity where bummers lead trustful hens to scratch up the bugs they

Your undivided attention is furthermore solicited to the signification of the text, metaphorically and collectively, in small passages, to suit every capacity, from the boy shucking peanuts peacefully in the corner, to the hardened sinner who stalks so proudly into your pastor's prese.co. * And woo unto you, young woman, sea-sawing up the broad aisle with your new coal-scuttle bonnet and streamers a flyin', for you are vanity of vanities. And you, young men in your fancy neckloths, go on until you slip up over a bale of cotton and are left to drift away ever the broad brimstone sea of national disgrace, a by-word and a jest unto away ever the broad brimstone sea of national disgrace, a by-word and a jest unto the world that you love not wisely but too well. My beloved, I warn you now, if you manifest symptoms of such cowardice as has been handed down to you from high places, the biggest pair of stoggy boots in this congregation will rise up in judgment against you, and kiek you out into the broad road that leads to everlasting ruin.

And finally when you cut the crust from your brown bread loat, and scrape the hard beans from the top of your noon-tide pot, if you cut a little into the soft and scrape a little below the crisp for the beggar's and outeast's portion, your conscience and digestion will trouble you less; and as you steal out, as some of you will to-night, where the silver moon of memory hangs low over the haunted hills of the past, to bow at some hallowed finger-post that points the way some beloved one went the past, to bow at some hallowed finger-post that points the way some beloved one went over your broken heart to heaven, may the eternal verdure of the evergreen hope spring up in barren spots trod hard by the busy feet of the absorbing Now, and bring you to the sweetness of that peace and the tenderness of that love that overflowes continually in deeds and words, for the elevation of the rag-radius who march in the rear ranks of the great army of humanity; for the barbarians are not all in the ragged file, but "many a gem of purest ray screne" wants but a lifting from the filth to shine. So mote it be. Brother Slowlast circulate the platter for the root of evil, until it is rooted out of this place. For verily I say unto you, the hen that scratches here expects to find a bug. Shell out.

Death of a Flench Savan.—The last survivor of that corps of Savans who, with Denon, Champellon, and other investigators, accompanied General Bonaparte to Egypt at the close of the past century, died on Sept. 24, without any previous ailing or illness. Jomand de l'Institut, born in 1777, was one of the carlier pupils of the Polytechnic School, and joined the expedition in charge of the charts and maps of the scientific staff, a department of which he continued through life the recognized exponent under every government. He classified at the Imperial library, the important deposit of which he held custody, and was authoritative referce on every requirement. It was to Jomad that was mainly traceable the early transfer to France of the Lancasterian system which he had appreciated in England at its origin by Bell and Lancaster. He had to contend with the sneers of old routine, the improvements being nicknamed Systéme de l'An Quatre, in derision of the Republican calendar. DEATH OF A FLENCH SAVAN .- The last sur-

Telegraphic Communication with Sar Francisco.

At no time perhaps for a long period has there been a greater quantity of unemployed capital in England than at present. political convulsion which has shaken her great commercial rival to the very centre has not been unproductive of serious consequences even to her. The mercantile connection existing between the two countries, from its extensional between the two countries and the countries are two countries and the countries are two countries and the countries are two co sive character is such as to make any serious derangement of it felt in more ways than one Not only has capital ceased to a considerable extent to be used in manufacturing interests at home, but it has been almost utterly withdrawn from investment in America and American securities. The consequence is that money has become a complete drug in the English markets. Any quantity of it can be had at from two to two and a half per cent. per annum. New fields therefore are required for the more profitable investment of that capital. Fortunately for England, she is not now confined to Europe for a market for her money, nor yet to the United States. The constellation of Colonies that has of late years grown up under her flag in all parts of the globe, presents many objects which may attract the attention of moneyed men. Nor is this the only consideration that should awaken the attention of the people at home. It must be recollected that whilst their private commercial interests may be advanced by the profitable investment of their capital in undertakings in the Colonies where money always bears a much higher value, they may at the same time advance those of the Empire by thus contributing to the commercial prosperity of her various dependencies. Hitherto we have not been in a position to excite any great degree of attention from commercial men at home. So many and wider fields were there to appeal to their notice, that we have been almost entirely neglected. But henceforth it must be otherwise. The discoveries of the last two years have sufficed to place us in a position to command the regard of other countries. English capital has made its way out here to some extent. The purchase of the Nanaimo coal mines and the establishment of the Bank of British Columbia, are items of the year's advance. One Railway company will make room for more. Steam navigation between here and Panama affords another field. And yet another opening presents itself for the investment of capital in the increasing want of telegraphic communication between Victoria and San Francisco. In no way do we feel our isolated position more than in the delay that occurs in the transmission of information between the two places. In modern days the telegraph assumes an importance second only to a good postal system. A telegraphic connection with San Francisco, and thence with New York, thus becomes an object whose attainment we must all desire. Our commercial relations with California, and latterly with Oregon and Washington Territory, are increasing so rapidly as alone to call for some movement towards establishing a line of telegraph that would continue to this place the connection now being constructed between Portland and San Francisco. But besides this, we have the increasing number of communications on private affairs that would be sent to various parts along the line-the daily demand for the latest telegraphic news from the south and east-to depend upon as sources of income to the undertating. It may perhaps be doubted whether at the high rates of in terest which at present rule in this place, it would just now only pay for the investment of local capital. But two per cent. per month, and two per cent. per annum, may cause men to look at the project in different lights. There is plenty of room for profit between those two rates. We may not be satisfied with anything less than twenty-four per cent. per annum, while our

English capitalist may consider himself lucky in getting six or eight per cent. The means of communication must of course be by sub-marine cable with Olympia, in Washington Territory, some eighty miles distant from this place. For although there are shorter reaches between the two coasts of the Straits, yet the country on the American side is not yet sufficiently developed to allow of the line being carried over land. The course of the cable would likely be from Victoria over to Point Wilson, near Port Townsend, about 30 miles; thence up the Sound to Olympia, some 50 miles further. From Olympia to Portland, which we suppose is between 80 and 90 miles, the line could of course be easily carried along the stage-road, and then the connection with San Francisco and New York would be complete. The line between Portland and Olympia requiring only to be constructed of iron wire, would cost but little-the main expense as a matter of course being in the cable. The cable between the Channel Islands and England, which comes nearest in length to the one in question, being eighty miles long, would probably give a pretty good parallel as regards cost, and perhaps, for a short time, as regards returns. That line, we believe, cost about £130 per mile, and is, we understand, larger than the Atlantic cable. This, we suppose, is owing to the greater danger of its derangement from lying in shallower water, and from the prevalence of rough weather, causing vessels to drag their anchors. The same kind of cable could no doubt be now manufactured for £100 per mile, or perhaps under; this would make the cost of the line to Olympia £8000. To this must be added freight, and the expense of laying it between Victoria and that place. From the shallowness of the waternot exceeding much over 120 fathomsand the uniform calmness of the Straits Clocks, Jewelry, &c., &c. and Sound which are like lakes between huge mountains, the cost would, of course, be very little. The sum of £2000 would probably cover all, as the line would most likely be laid by the manufacturers who have every facility for such operations. At most, we cannot see how the line, were it completed to Portland, could cost more than £15,000. This, when we come to consider the great benefit it would confer upon this colony both commercially and social y, and the certainty of its paying a good per centage to English capitalists, even at its outset, ought to be sufficient to cause our public men to bring that project before the old country capitalist in some tangible shape. Submarine cables are now generally manufactured of some five strands of copper wire, cased in gutta percha, and covered outside with iron wire to protect the surface from abrasion. Messrs Glep, Elliot & Co. of Greenwich, and Henly & Co. of Woolwich, are among the mos celebrated mannfacturers of the article. We hope ere long to have to record the feat of instantaneous communication between this city and New York--as the San Francisco papers did not long ago with respect to the achievement between the same place and their city. And not only with New York shall we yet be able to converse by electricity, but with Europe, fer we perceive that there is still a probability of telegraphic communication between the two continents.

Police Court.

Monday, Dec. 1st.

Edward Collis, a notorious drunkard, appeared in court on the usual charge, having heen picked up in a state of inebriation by officer Carrington, on Saturday night. He told a plausible story about having an appointment in an hour's time with a gentleman who had engaged him to work, and on the strength of it, obtained his discharge.

A man who appeared on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and assaulting the officer who arrested him, was fined 50s.

Dennis Gallaghan was brought upon remand, on a charge of robbing John Sullivan.

The prosecutor's previous statement was read over to him; and, afterwards, under the cross-examination of Mr. Pemberton, he said that the alleged robbery took place about 10 days ago, but he could not recollect how many days since it was that the appeared in court.

Samuel Perry was called to prove that the had offered money to the prosecutor prisoner had offered money to let him go.

Joseph Woods swore that on last Thursbeautiful and prisoner and day he had seen the prosenter and prisoner going about all day together. Gallagher had remarked to him (witness) that Sullivan naa remarked to him (witness) that Sullivan had plenty of money and he would like to get some from him. He (witness) replied that he had better ask Sullivan. About an hour afterwards, Sullivan came to him and told him that the prisoner had stolen his purse, and asked him to go for a policemen. The gallant little craft proceeded up the river as far as Brennan's house, being the first steamboat that has attempted the trip. There is no news of importance from the district. The unusually favorable season is being taken advantage of by the settlers, who are hard at work making improvements.

We have cast about among our acquaintances, and public men generally, and we can think of nobody who would be willing to take the office upon the most munificent salary, payable in specie of the old-fashioned sort. You see you would have to find a man after you had created the office. EDITOR BRITISH COLOXIST: Sir—The Nanaimo Temperance Society, which, by-the-by, was the first stabilished in the colony, held a public meeting on the evening of the 19th inst., in Ebenezer Wesleyan Church. The chair was occupied by Mr. Thormas C. Parry, who made a most telling and interesting speech. Temperance melodies were sung, and the Rev. E. Robson followed in his usual happy manner and drew most harmonious but virid pictures of the dire effects of intemprance, and of the blessings which would follow were the principles of temperance universally COLONIAL SCHOOL. Probable Length of the War.

Under this caption the New York Times a short time ago treated its readers to an editorial, in which it reviewed the bearings of the war, and came to the conclusion that nothing but hard fighting could ever whip

the South. It thinks the South is rapidly running through its resources; and it bases

this assertion on the fact that the Confeder ates would not have resorted to a conscrip tion between the ages of 45 and 55 if such were not the case. Even of that class the estimate will not exceed 200,000 or 300,000

men, with every probability of weakening

the active qualities of the army when mobilized. Taking the Confederate army at 500,-000, it holds that it will loose 60,000 men annually. That loss by sickness is 12 per cent more than in the Federal army; and that as a matter of course, if the war be proinged, the larger numbers of the North will sorely press the South. But it adds: "Yet it cannot be denied that 400,000 or 500,000 brave men, like the soldiers of South, can protract the war for years." So far as sup-pliess-food, lorage, and clothing-are con-cerned, it asserts that no weakness among ship." It adds:

southern soluters corn-mean and othern and he can live. They are ragged and lousy, it is true; but very dirty and rowdy looking men can fight. They are perhaps no worse off than our forefathers were in the struggle with England. None of these wants, we believe, are to shorten the war. of Justice Frankiji. The level and the school register, which he said was neally and necurately kept, the irregularity of attendance on the part of the children a drawback to education the most serious, and which he hoped the parents would strive to remedy in future. This circumstance and the youthful ages of the pupils, he said, would show that they were not capable of going far into the various branches of education Mr. C. Bryant, the teacher, in conjunction with Mr. Cridge, then examined the pupils in reading, spelling, arithmetic, geography and grammar, after which the chairman wound up by corpolorating, from his own experience during the past three years, the remarks made by Mr. Cridge in reference to the bad attendance of the children at school. During the summer months he had seen children, not larger than the smallest there, staggering under the weight of two buckets of water, which they were carrying home from the springs, as the Indian scould not be bired, being away fishing, and hence it was excussible for the parents at that time. He expressed his gratification at the fresh the first the first time of the examination, and then the proceedings closed by the singing of the National Anthen by the children. There were preparent sectaors the Bishop of Columbia, the Revs. J. B. Good and G. Robson, Capt. Pike, R. N., Hon, R. Finlayson, C. S. Nicol, Eq., and Drs. Reddall and Benson. After a view of the whole position, it con-cludes that but for Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, the North might in the end be glad to accept "the frontier of the Potomac, the southern mountains of Tennessee, Ken-tucky, and the valley of the Mississippi."

**A Dictatorship in the States.**

The question of a dictatorship in the North crn States, has already come before the New York public. The **Express**, a Democratic**

The Heetor and Valiant, of 32 gans, 4.063 tons, and 800-horse power, are building. the same extent as that of the Warrior, tons, and 800-horse power, are building. The first at Glasgow; the second at Newcastle. Their estimated speed is 115 knots. Nothing has been decided yet how these ships are to be plated. The armament of these ships will consist all in 63-peunder solid-shot gaus, and 100 and 110-pounder rifled-gaus. Their trial-speed has been estimated and calculated at 14.30 knots, and without any doubt they are, and will be, most formidable vessels.

The Prince Albert of 12 gurs, 2,529 tons, and 500 horse power, is building at Millcharge of the Express. It says: "There is quite enough in the present actual position of affairs for speculation, and even for respectable lamentation, without inventing a dictatorship." It adds:

2. I come now to the wooden iron-cased

social people, saturated with Democratic opinions, and accustomed to control government by continual limitation—a people which for two centuries has chafed at the semblance of ships in progress of construction, of which, so lar, four classes have been adopted.

The first and by far the most formidable class are the frigates of 34 guns, converted class are the frigates of 34 guns, converted from the 91 screw line-of-battle-ships laid down in 1850. These ships were cut down two decks, lengthened amidships, the shape of the stem altered to make the ships fit for acting as rams, and the stem altered to somewhat similar shape of the Gloire, yet presenting a much lighter and handsomer appearance than that ship. The ships thus converted are the Ocean and Prince Consort, each of 1,000-horse power and 34 guns, and the Caledonia, Royal Oak and Royal Alfred, each of 1001-horse power and 34 guns. The speed expected to be realized by the two centuries may chance at the semblance of autocracy in the public policy—a people edu-cated to execuate tyranny as something too loathsome to be considered with equaminity— to dread that such a race will become sud-denly enamored of submission, and quiescent under a Casar, would be about as reasonable that the army may elevate a favorite General (of the Major, or Brigadier, or Adjutant species), to the throne? If we were a private soldier, we think that we could bear the bad beef, and the bean coffee, and the shoddy jack.

Allred, each of 100-horse power and 34 guns. The speed expected to be realized by the two first ships is 12 40 knots per hour; the speed of the three latter ships is estimated at 11 knots per hour.

The Prince Consort and the Royal Oak have been lately launched: They are partly plated and will be ready for service in the course of this year. The dimensions of these ships are. plated and will be ready for service in the course of this year. The dimensions of these ships are: Length between the perpendiculars, 273 feet; extreme breadth, 58 feet 5 inches; moulded breadth, 56 feet 4 inches; depth of hold, 19 feet 10 inches; burthen in tons, 4,045 26 94. The ships are built in the most substantial manner, and of the very best materials. A great many ingenious and highly practical details are introduced in the fastening and working of the armor plates (impossible to describe without detailed sketches) that will render the iron armor of these ships more effectual the iron armor of these ships more effectual than that of any other class of ships constructed either in England, France, or America. The interior arrangement or fittings rica. The interior arrangement or fittings are admirably planned, the ventilation perfect throughout, the arrangements for freeing the ships of water are of the most complete kind; and on the whole, this class of ships gives the highest credit to its designers and to those officers that were charged with the execut n of the plans. I have not the slightest doubt this class of ships will be proved to be the most effectual and most useful in future naval warfare, and that we ought to have in the United States, ready, at least a dozen of similar frigates, with modileast a dozen of similar frigates, with modi fications in their shape and dimensions t adapt them to our requirements. Several of the other 91-gun ships, yet on the stocks, will be converted into iron-cased frigates on will be conveited into iron-cased frigates on precisely the same plan. The armament of these ships will consist in 68-pounder solid shot guns and in Armstrong 100 and 150-pounder rifled guns—34 in all. Their masts are all of iron and of immense strength.

The Royal Sovereign, formerly a screw line-of-battle ship of 131 guns, is at present being transformed into a shield ship, on Capt. Cole's plan. Her dimensions before the correction were: Leaville between parameters.

version were: Length between perpendien-lars, 240 feet 6 inches; breadth, extreme, 60 feet. The length remains unaltered, but her breadth will be increased 2 feet 1 inch, making breattn will of horeased 2 feet 1 men, making her toninge 3,865 tons. The ship will have no masts and sails, and only will be moved by steam. Her engines have a power of 800 horses, and her actual speed is 12.55 knots per hour. Though the vessel will carry a powerful armament, it is conceded by all parties that vessels of her kind, like all the rest of the vessels of her kind, like all the rest of the Monitor family, are only good for harbor defense, but not lit for fighting at sea.

3. There are two other classes of ships building on plans of Mr. Reed, naval architect, who gets a temporary appointment in the navy. The characteristics of these ships are that they are plated only a little above and below the load line and the midship part of the Confederates can arise from that cause. The vessel containing the guns. The object of In these matters we do not believe the South the design is to relieve the ends of his vessels in these matters we do not believe the South will suffer anything which will decide the contest. The Southern States can be made to feed the whole Union, of it is desired. The planters have undoubtedly planted corn and wheat largely in place of cotton, and on new great favor with the Admiralty, and a wheat largely in place of cotton, and on new great member of 36 gain frigates are to be transformed into iron-cased sloops on transformed into fron-cased sloops on this plan. A small vessel on this plan, the Enterprise, is building at Deptlord dockyard. She have a length of 180 feet. The larger class, of which the Favorite, converting in Deptford, is a sample, has 400 horse power and a speed of about 11 knots. The Enterprise will be finished this year ; the Favorite in the course of the next. In conclusion, we see that the French can have by the end of next year a fleet of 16 iron-cased frigates fit for foreign service; and the English can muster in a year and a half 16 iron-cased frigates and 2 iron-cased corvettes, all fit for foreign service and aggressive war-

Hot. Hot.Loway's Pills are undeniably the finest Medicine in the world for Billiousness and Indiges'ion.—In all cases of deranged stomach, determination of blood to the head, bile, sick headache, liver and stomach complaints, there is no medicine known that will give such immediate relief as these ren owned Pills; young and old, rich or poor, patrenise them, and so many cures are effected by their use, that their praise is sounded from the temperate climate to the frigid z me; in truth, persons who travol consider them a necessary requisite. During the everland journey to India, the blood becomes everheated, the liver torpid, the skin covered with a prickly heat, and the whole system languid and exhausted. Nothing so sooh gives relief as Holloway's Pills.

BILLIOUS AFFECTIONS—Are specifily removed by the use of Dr. Jayne's Sanative Pills. The test of 30 years' use has proved them superior to all other remedies for the curs of the various diseases for which they are recommended. In their action they are mild and certain, and may be taken at any time without risk from exposure, and on this account these. time without risk from exposure, and on this ac-count they are invaluable to the miner, as they may be taken without necessitating a discontinuance of work, even though the latter should be in the win-

Bilious Affections,

JANKE'S SANATIVE PILLS

Are recommended with the greatest confidence, experience having demonstrated them to be far superior to any other in use, being more mild, prompt-safe and uniform in their operation. While using them no particular care is required, and patients may est and drink as usual. Age will not impuly them, as in the stomach. In small doses they are alterative and gently laxative, but in large doses are actively estimatic, clean-sing the whole alimentary canal from all putrid, irritating and fecal matters.

For DYSIETSIA, these Pills are really an involution of the Stomach and Liver, and producing kealthy action in those important organs. In care of long standing, a cure will be more specify effected when the standing of the stomach are the standard of the Stomach and Liver, and producing standing, a cure will be more specify effected of long standing, a cure will be more specify effected when the standard of the Stomach and Liver, and producing the standard of the standard of
